

NPTEL launches 24 online certification courses

- June 11, 2015

Chennai, June 11, 2015: NPTEL, an MHRD, Government of India initiative, is launching 24 online certification courses covering disciplines such as Computer Science, Aerospace, Electrical, Metallurgical engineering and Management Sciences that start on 1 July 2015. The complete list of courses is available on the website <https://onlinecourses.nptel.ac.in> where one can also enroll for these courses.

Prof. Andrew Thangaraj, NPTEL coordinator, IIT Madras said “Enrollment for these courses is free and anyone can learn and benefit from the resources available. Certification is optional and the certificate exam for these courses is scheduled to be held in September and November 2015.” For more details, visit <http://nptel.ac.in/noc>.

Prof. Prathap Haridoss, NPTEL coordinator, IIT Madras, further added “Apart from NPTEL Online certification courses, NPTEL is a huge repository of 875+ courses available across disciplines for self-study by students(<http://nptel.ac.in>), who can supplement their learning at college with the help of this.

Working professionals can also benefit by refreshing their knowledge using this source. These web and video lectures of NPTEL are also available for free copying in hard disks for institutions and organizations”.

NPTEL is attempting to connect better with colleges through the establishment of NPTEL study centres. More information about this can be found on <http://nptel.ac.in/studycentre> website.
