

Motivation

- ❖ It is necessary at the end of a course to understand how various techniques learnt as separate modules can be used together in some full case studies. This integrated the learning experience.
- ❖ By following the case study analysis and design a student will learn how to go through a step-by-step process and finally document the designed step.