Assignment 2

1. Your salary is $50,000 per annum with a 4% raise. How much will you earn after one year? (Give the answer to the nearest whole number.)

2. Describe the difference between a language and a dialect.

3. Define the phrase "a language with a large number of speakers who speak it as their mother tongue."

4. How are metaphor and metonymy similar? How are they different?

5. Give an example of a language with a large number of speakers who speak it as their mother tongue.

6. What is the difference between a language and a dialect? Explain with an example.

7. Define metaphor and metonymy. Give an example of each.

8. Explain the concept of "a language with a large number of speakers who speak it as their mother tongue." Provide an example.

9. Describe the difference between a language and a dialect. Give an example.

10. Define metaphor and metonymy. Provide an example of each.

11. Give an example of a language with a large number of speakers who speak it as their mother tongue. Explain why it is considered a "language with a large number of speakers who speak it as their mother tongue."