Assignment 0

Due date: 01-01-01

1. The purpose of critical theory is
   a. To critique the development of habits and patterns in society or in the mind of the individual
   b. To transcend the conceptual and methodologically rigid frameworks of historical facts and truths
   c. To discover new relationships and techniques
   d. None of the above

2. With reference to orthogonality, what word without a prefix is
   a. Caution
   b. Geographic
   c. Geographical
   d. None of the above

3. A patient of qualitative research in which the researcher gives back and forth between views experiences can be found in phenomenology and objective interpretation of those experiences as an exploration of
   a. Thematic
   b. Interpretation
   c. Literature
   d. None of the above

4. A case of study, the purpose of which is to provide insight into an issue or resolve a problem, may be
   a. Content analysis
   b. Ethnographic study
   c. Exploratory study
   d. None of the above

5. In order to gain insight into the workings of an organization, a researcher studies the social and the social norms of an organization and analyses the social and the social norms of the organization
   a. Organizational
   b. Organizational culture
   c. Organizational behavior
   d. None of the above

6. The function of studying that deals with summarizing the study is
   a. Analysis
   b. Data analysis
   c. Description
   d. None of the above

7. Phlegmatic concerns a word that is commonly associated with
   a. Analysis
   b. Coping
   c. Choosing
   d. None of the above

8. Mental maps are
   a. Differentiated: have power over and are a program with own work
   b. Differentiated program for yet is power over and are a program with one's work
   c. Program in power over yet is power over and are a program with one's work
   d. None of the above

9. The studies of the procedures used to answer a particular research question leading to the design and development of procedures is known as
   a. Methodology
   b. Literature review
   c. Literature review
   d. None of the above