There are various disciplines of studying management. Someone who studies arts and commerce will have other relations with commerce and professions. Generally, it is a discipline with having combinations of:
(a) Arts, commerce and engineering
(b) Arts, science and engineering
(c) Arts, science and commerce
(d) Arts, science and professions

You have joined as a manager in an organisation. There is a conflict between head of the organisation and manager. Like me on the issue related to the project work on the organisation. As the matter related to office operations is concerned, it is said that a manager does not require plan to manage control over office operations.
(a) True
(b) False

One senior manager described his employee as 'Guna. I am the boss here, you all should do as I will direct.' It is a style of what type of functioning?
(a) Authoritative
(b) Controlling
(c) Consultative
(d) Participatory

Principles of work of communication include:
(a) One employee should have one boss.
(b) One employee should have a common boss.
(c) Both (a) and (b).
(d) None of these.

One can single handedly propose an 'out of the box' idea as a part of:
(a) Control management
(b) Human resource management
(c) Financial management
(d) Risk management

...is a fertile course of action in advance. Fill up blank.
(a) Training
(b) Meeting
(c) Planning
(d) Recruitment

Instruction: Read the following passage and answer the questions given below at the end of the passage regarding the following:

Vikash is the Sales Manager at Bright Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. Sales has been the company’s revenue maven for some time, so Sales Manager, as he often jokes, is a junior level employee with a number of administrative tasks, and he thrives on any relevant function. He has never been the kind of manager that is often considered a leader. The following are the attributes of the Sales Manager: He is, first of all, in charge of a large number of sales representatives, and he is frequently required to motivate and inspire them. Sales is a very competitive field, and he is constantly looking for ways to improve his team’s performance. His approach to leadership is very hands-on, and he is always available to his team for support and guidance. He believes in the power of teamwork, and he encourages his team to work together to achieve their goals. He is a great believer in the saying, "If you want something done, do it yourself." He is also very experienced in the field of sales, and he has a deep understanding of the industry. His approach to leadership is very hands-on, and he is always available to his team for support and guidance. He believes in the power of teamwork, and he encourages his team to work together to achieve their goals. He is a great believer in the saying, "If you want something done, do it yourself."

Organisational hierarchy is as per above passage includes:
(a) Vikash superior to Bhal
(b) Bhal superior to Vikash
(c) Vikash and Bhal are at equal level
(d) None of these

The relation between Vikash and Bhal as stated in the passage is:
(a) Bhal is a manager.
(b) Bhal reports to Vikash
(c) Vikash makes decisions for Bhal
(d) All these

I am not going to be able to do the work you assigned to me at any cost. It relates to which principle of management?
(a) Principle of division of labor
(b) Principle of communication
(c) Principle of centrality
(d) Administrative Principle