Assignment 7

The due date for submitting this assignment has passed.
As per our records you have not submitted this assignment.

Due on 2019-09-16, 23:59 IST.

1) A manager wants to use business games as training method because
   - Business games are educational and entertaining
   - They can simulate
   - Manager’s role is very limited
   - Organization does not have better training method
   - The employees are incursions, scenario
     - None of the above
     - Scenario

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Business games are educational and entertaining

2) Which statement is correct about the client participants?
   - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.
   - Those participants regard their participation in the programme as an opportunity to cultivate new relationships and make new friends.
   - For those participants the major attraction for their coming to programme is not the training but possibility of visiting tourist spots.
   - Those participants who have the company urge to cultivate almost everything connected with the programme such as contexts, methodology, physical arrangements, trainer and so on.
   - Those participants who are not inclined to accept the need for training and feel that they know almost everything that the training programmes intends to focus on.
   - None of the above

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.

3) Which one is not a type of training participants?
   - Complete
   - Simple
   - Neither complex nor simple

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Complete

4) The main aim of business games is
   - To create participatory and transforming them with the functional dynamics of an organisation
   - To reduce operational cost
   - To reduce organization learning
   - To promote organizational loyalty
   - None of the above

   - Accepted Answers:
     - To create participatory and transforming them with the functional dynamics of an organisation

5) Which one is not a type of training participant?
   - Comparator
   - Target
   - Sat – Seeker
   - Connector

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Comparator

6) Which statement is correct about the participant participants?
   - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.
   - Those participants regard their participation in the programme as an opportunity to cultivate new relationships and make new friends.
   - For those participants the major attraction for their coming to programme is not the training but possibility of visiting tourist spots.
   - Those participants who have the company urge to cultivate almost everything connected with the programme such as contexts, methodology, physical arrangements, trainer and so on.
   - Those participants who are not inclined to accept the need for training and feel that they know almost everything that the training programmes intends to focus on.

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.

7) Which statement is correct about buh – fewer participants?
   - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.
   - Those participants regard their participation in the programme as an opportunity to cultivate new relationships and make new friends.
   - For those participants the major attraction for their coming to programme is not the training but possibility of visiting tourist spots.
   - Those participants who have the company urge to cultivate almost everything connected with the programme such as contexts, methodology, physical arrangements, trainer and so on.
   - Those participants who are not inclined to accept the need for training and feel that they know almost everything that the training programmes intends to focus on.

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.

8) Which statement is correct about the participant participants?
   - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.
   - Those participants regard their participation in the programme as an opportunity to cultivate new relationships and make new friends.
   - For those participants the major attraction for their coming to programme is not the training but possibility of visiting tourist spots.
   - Those participants who have the company urge to cultivate almost everything connected with the programme such as contexts, methodology, physical arrangements, trainer and so on.
   - Those participants who are not inclined to accept the need for training and feel that they know almost everything that the training programmes intends to focus on.

   - Accepted Answers:
     - Those participants come with a strong personal agenda and motives for the programme.